JOLT ENDORSES LUKE WARFORD FOR TEXAS RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

Jolt Action proudly announces its official endorsement of Luke Warford for Texas Railroad Commissioner. The Texas Railroad Commission, contrary to its name, oversees the regulation of Texas' oil and gas industry. Luke Warford will help restore trust and accountability to this important regulatory body, and his campaign promises to help keep the lights on in Texas by prioritizing fixing the electrical grid.

"Texas has the opportunity to live up to its reputation as the Energy Capital and that is by electing Luke Warford to serve as Railroad Commissioner," said Jolt Political Specialist Jen Ramos. "As the youngest candidate we've seen since Lena Guerrero in this role, it will take bold leadership to make a difference and ensure we can keep the lights on. That starts with Luke advocating for all Texans."

Latino communities feel the negative impacts of pollution on our health, and we need some protections to make sure that pollution does not get into our neighborhoods. Under its current leadership, however, the Texas Railroad Commission has favored protecting the profits of giant corporations, rather than protecting the health of Texans. If elected, Luke Warford will use the Railroad Commission to help protect our air, water and our health.

"For too long, Texas has been held back by the same out-of-touch policies being enacted by the same out-of-touch leaders—leaders like Wayne Christian, who has been in office since I was 8 years old," said Warford. "I am running to bring a new generation of leadership to Texas politics, which is exactly what Jolt Action is doing every day. I'm so excited to have the endorsement of Jolt Action, and am proud of the work they do to empower young Latinos across Texas."

Warford's goals also include expanding the role of clean energy in Texas to create jobs and fight climate change at the same time. As part of this plan, Warford intends to help lower electricity bills for Texas families who are struggling with inflation. It is time for new leadership that understands that Texas can remain the world's energy capital while also prioritizing the needs of all Texans, and Luke Warford is the right person to help bring about that future.
